A DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL

Held by the Literary and Social Department of the Epworth League.

A literary social, under the auspices of the Literary and Social Department of the Epworth League, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Naus, East Penn Street, last Monday evening, March 13.

The League motto "Look up and Lift up" was kept in mind by the committee. Every means was taken to strike a note which would give tone and character to the hope that all would go away the better for having come. The evening proved to be a Birthday Celebration of some of the great men born during the months of February and March.

An opening program was made up of patriotic songs, short addresses and biographies in part of Washington, Lincoln, Longfellow, Dickens and St. Patrick, solos, words taken from Longfellow's "Hymn" in "David Copperfield," and also recitations from Irish dialects. All seemed to catch the spirit of Longfellow when he wrote the words:

And the air was filled with music,
And the carols that infest the day
Shall fold up their tents like the Arabs
And as quietly steal away."

Three rooms, Washington, Longfellow, and Irish, appropriately decorated, received the guests, respective rooms being designed by a card handed them at the door. The sliding doors connecting three rooms were closed, entertainments going on in respective rooms simultaneously. In the Washington room entertainment took the form of a Musical Romance, a guessing contest of songs played on the piano, when completed made an interesting story. Also other diversions of a patriotic nature were indulged. Refreshments consisted of ice cream, fruit, gelatine, cake, etc., served on paper plates on which were patriotic inscriptions.

In the Longfellow room poems from Longfellow, and characters from the Waverley Novels, were represented. An opportunity was given all to recognize and name. How delightful it was to recall "The Children's Hour," "The Village Blacksmith," "The Wreck of the Hesperus," "Excelsior," "The Psalm of Life," "The Bridge," "The Old Clock on the Stairs," "Hiawatha," David Copperfield characters, Miss Trotwood, Mowberr, Little Nell. Refreshments consisting of sponge cake and tea were served in this room on paper plates on which were inscribed poetic quotations.

In the Irish room extracts from St. Patrick's life, Irish enigmas, as well as instructive notations of Ireland and its people, etc., were the features of this room. Refreshments were made up of lettuce sandwiches, potato chips and pickles.

At half hour signals all rooms changed taking their plates with them, thus enabling all to get the most of the social features. The evening came to a close each room singing a song adapted to its peculiar character. The guests were then taken to the hall, where the last, costumes worn by some of the committee, representing "Colonial and Lincoln" periods, also representing St. Valentine, and other prominent Irish characters. Let us have more of such occasions.

George Ellenberger

George Ellenberger, notice of whose death was printed last week, was born in Juniata Township on February 23, 1832. January 10, 1858, he was united in marriage with Annie E. Wilson of Napier Township, who, with two sons, preceded him to the spirit world.

Mr. Ellenberger was a veteran of the Civil War, being a member of Co. K, 55th Reg. Pa. Volunteers. He was wounded at Drewry's Bluff in the right arm near the shoulder.

In 1866 he moved with his family to Somerset County, near Dividing Ridge, where he lived until 1885 when he moved to Napier Township, where he purchased a farm. During his life, with the help of his family he cleared about 206 acres of land and split thousands of rails.

In November 1910 he made his home with his son, James H. Ellenberger. He was taken ill with cramp on December 16, and was confined to his bed for 10 weeks and five days, during which time he bore his suffering with Christian fortitude, passing away March 8 in the triumphs of a living faith.

He had made all arrangements for his funeral, even to the minutest detail. He is survived by four sons and two daughters: J. H. Ellenberger of near Schellsburg, George W., Jacob B. and John T., of Johnstown; Mrs. Eliza Cable and Mrs. John H. Miller, of Boswell.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. L. B. Rittenhouse and interment was made in the Schellsburg Cemetery, the pall bearers were Benjamin Egolf, Levi Shaffer, James Crawford, John H. Crissman, Isiah Hoover and John Buerick.

BEDFORD COUNTY DRY

Excepting Bedford Springs, all Applications for Liquor License Refused—Opinion of Judge Woods Verbatim—Judge Brice Changes Vote.

The long-looked-for decision of the Court in re licenses for Bedford County arrived on Wednesday and is on file in the office of Prothonotary Guyer, an exact copy being here appended, together with a letter to the President Judge from Associate Brice and an opinion filed by him yesterday. They speak for themselves.

Judge Woods' Opinion
In the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bedford County, Pennsylvania.

In re petition of William A. Graftious et al. praying that a license to sell liquors in quantities not exceeding one quart, and Oscar L. Brumbaugh et al., for Disillies License.

In taking up, for consideration, these applications, twenty-three in all, we are met with an exception to each one which reads as follows, to wit: "Because the Clerk of the above named Court has not published two times in three newspapers designated by him, a list containing the name of this applicant, his residence and the place for which application is made, as required by Sec. 1 of the Act of April 27, 1903." By referring to the Act quoted, viz., Act of April 27, 1903, we find it has reference to an Act regulating "the sale of malt, brewed, vinous and spirituous liquors, etc." by brewers, distillers, wholesalers, etc., and is an amendment to the wholesale Act of July 13, 1897, amending the Third Sec. of said Act, and provides the form and manner of publication to all intents and purposes as is provided for the publication of retail applicants. As to the manner and mode of publication, the law requires that the Clerk shall cause to be published a list of the applicants for all manner of licenses for the sale of spirituous malt and brewed liquors, for a certain time before the day fixed for the hearing and in a designated manner. This provision is mandatory. In the case of Kelpers License 21 Super. Court 512. Judge Porter has said: "The Fourth Section of the Act requires every person applying for a license to file his petition with the Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions at least three weeks before the first day of the session of the Court at which the same is to be heard. The Act and its supplement imposes upon the clerk the duty of publishing, prior to the time fixed for hearing, a list of the names of the applicants for such license, containing the name of the applicant, his residence, and the place for which such application is made. The Court must fix the day of hearing. Every application must be filed three weeks before the first day of the session of the Court at which the same is to be heard, and the clerk must publish the list during the period prescribed by the statute, prior to the time of hearing. These provisions are for the purpose of making certain that the public shall have notice of the time when these matters of public concern are to be heard and disposed of by the Court. The requirement that every application for the granting of a license shall be filed three weeks before the first day of the session at which the same is to be heard is mandatory. When the applications are not so filed, it is impossible for the clerk to perform the duty imposed upon him, by statute, and the manifest intention of the Legislature that the public shall have notice of the time when these matters of public concern are to be heard and disposed of by the Court. The requirement that every application for the granting of a license shall be filed three weeks before the first day of the session at which the same is to be heard is mandatory. INCIDENTS AND ANECDOTES

A Resume of the People and Events Which Struck Our Mancy in the Southwest.

(Written for The Gazette by M. J. Brown, Editor Little Valley, N. Y., Hub.)

This letter will close the southwest series, and it is made up of odds and ends from a note book, little stories of human interest and the unusual incidents noted on the trip.

Taking a long walk down the banks of the Rio Grande one afternoon, by the side of the railroad I found an Indian boy playing alone with the stones, building little cattle pens. I stopped and watched the boy. He was perhaps six years old, and a type of the full blood Pueblo. I noticed one of his hands was badly swollen and inflamed. I sat down by his side in the gravel and finally induced him to let me see his hand. It had been badly cut across the palm and without any care it had become a dangerous wound, swollen and cracked open.

I tried the sign language and finally the little fellow understood what I wanted. He placed that hot, throbbing little brown hand in mine and we went back to town and to the drug store, where a doctor carefully dressed and poulticed it. Then I led him back down the tract and bade him goodbye.

He was an Indian. He couldn't express himself as we gushing white men do. He just looked at me when I left, but I know that should I ever meet this little brown man again, I have a friend who will come through.

Along the Rio Grande, anywhere where trees grow, you may see the beavers' work, and it is certainly wonderful what work these little tur animals can do. You have read of the beavers' dams, how these little fellows will fall hundreds of trees, dam a river and make for themselves a lake. But it seems to me that tree cutting is an instinct or habit with these animals and they just bite them down to be doing something. All along the river the trees are felled, and the sharp teeth of these water animals have bitten them off as smooth as an axe could have cut them.

About as tough a sight as I ever saw was a little girl and a drunken father, just outside of the little mountain town of Espanola. The father had fallen from his horse and laid in a drunken stupor in the trail. The girl was vainly trying to revive him. She would soak her handkerchief in the stream, carry it over and sprinkle it in the face of the drunken father. I told her to go back to the town and get help, but she said they would put him in jail as they did before "and mamma is sick at home."

The man had a sack of potatoes and a few groceries tied to his saddle. He had fallen from his horse, dead drunk. I left there he would freeze before morning. I went back to the town, reported the matter to the marshal and as I rode into Santa Fe that night, many times I wondered if the brute was arrested and how the little woman and the sick mother came out.

in Denver and with the money was to have made payment on a neat little dottie in Albuquerque, and wife and little boy would soon be down. He got crazy drunk and the soldier of fortune saw him first and claimed him. He had several New York drafts. Crazy with small losses, he endorsed the papers and turned them over to the saloon keeper as trustee, while the winnings and losses were recorded by pencil.

The game was dice, one throw. It started with a dollar and went to one hundred dollars as a stake at one throw. As fast as the railroad man's losses totaled the amounts of the drafts they were handed over to the winner. He told me he lost $1,200 that night. The place was full and I shared with him my bed. Sobering up in the night, and realizing what he had done, he begged to die, and if I ever felt like providing a man with the means for a quick trip to the hereafter it was then. But I didn't have a gun and he was asleep when I crawled out the next morning.

While the Mexicans are looked upon with much contempt by Americans, yet they are feared to a considerable extent, and it is a man has anything to say about a Greaser he looks around first, and tells it to you low. They are revengeful and never forget. If they hate a white man they will stick a match under his store or barn. In northern New Mexico the most of the Mexicans are Penitentes—they belong to the Penitent Brothers, two self-scorers, and a word against their religion makes you their deadly enemy. The most of them are deplorably ignorant. They are fanatics, and think the white race is against their religion, and a man who would pry into their strange flagellant rites takes a long chance, for they will kill him if the surroundings are favorable.

Many of the Mexican girls are handsome, some of them strikingly beautiful, the red under the olive making an unusual combination. The men are dark, almost black, while the women are nearly all light, with just enough of the olive to brand them. They love dress and display.

One of the curiosities made in this remarkable country is the Navajo blanket. There is no other blanket like it. It is remarkable that half-naked savages in a remote wilderness which is almost a desert, unwashed nomads who never live in a house, weave a handsome, more durable, and more valuable blanket than is turned out by the costly and intricate looms of Europe and America, but it is true.

The covers which shelter us at night are very poor affairs, artistically and commercially, compared to those superb robes woven by Navajo women in the rudest caricature of a loom.

Blanket weaving is the one domestic industry of this great tribe of twenty thousand souls, whose temporary brush shelters dot the northwestern mountains of New Mexico, and the eastern ranges of Arizona, but they do it well. The work of the men is stock-raising, they have a million and a half of sheep, a hundred thousand cattle and several hundred thousand beautiful ponies, and they also plant a little corn. The women have no housework to do, because they have no houses—a very different social condition from that of their neighbors, the cleanly, industrious, farm-tending, home-loving Pueblos. They make hardly any pottery, buying what they need from the expert Pueblos, in exchange for their own matchless blankets, which the Pueblos no longer weave.

The Navajo country is a very lonely and not altogether safe one, for these Indians are jealous of intruders, but it is full of interest, and there is much to be seen in safe proximity to the railroad, particularly near Manvelto, the last station in New Mexico. It fairly takes one's breath away to ride up one of these barren mesas, among the twisted pinons, and find a ragged Indian woman squatted before a loom made of three sticks, a rope, and a stone, weaving a blanket of great beauty in design and color, and with the durability of iron. But that is what one may see a thousand times in this strange country, by taking the necessary trouble, though it is a sight that few people do see. The Navajo is a seeker of seclusion and instinctively pitches his camp in an out-of-the-way location. You may pass within fifty yards of his "HOGAN" and never suspect the proximity of human life, unless your attention is called by one of his wolfish dogs, which are very fond of strangers, and strangers RAW.

If you can induce the dog to save you for supper and will follow his snarling retreat, this is what you may see: Under the shelter of a juniper a semi-circular wind-break built breast-high of brush and about fifteen feet from point to point; a tiny heap of smouldering coals; a few greasy sheep-skins and blankets lying against the breast; perhaps the jerked meat of a sheep hanging to a branch, and near it pendant a few silver ornaments; a little-necked basket, pitched without and full of cold water; an old rifle leaning against the wall;

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

Just the right medicine for backache, rheumatism, Bright's disease and all urinary irregularities. C. Bichler, 2315 6th Ave., Altoona, Pa., says: "For several years I was troubled with my kidneys and bladder and I had taken different medicines I received no relief. The action of my kidneys was irregular and painful and I was troubled with backaches and dizzy spells. Foley Kidney Pills were the means of restoring me to good health and I do not hesitate to recommend them." Ed. D. Heckerman.

Ed. D. Heckerman is seeking the worst case of dyspepsia or constipation in Bedford or vicinity to test Dr. Howard's new specific for the cure of those diseases.

In order to secure the quickest possible introduction Ed. D. Heckerman will sell a regular fifty-cent package of this medicine at half price, 25 cents.

This specific of Dr. Howard's will cure sick headache, dizzy feelings, constipation, dyspepsia and all forms of malaria and liver trouble. It does not simply give relief for a time; it makes permanent and complete cures.

a few bare-legged youngsters filled with mirth, but diffident towards strangers; maybe the lord of the castle and a male companion or two playing cumquian with solemn faces and Mexican cards; the dogs, the lariat ponies—and the lady of the house at her remarkable loom.

All Navajo blankets are single ply, the pattern being the same on both sides. The Navajos and Pueblos also weave remarkably fine belts and garters from two to eight inches wide and two to nine feet long, and durable and pretty dresses for their women.

It may also be news to you to learn that both Navajos and Pueblos are admirable silver smiths, and make all their own jewelry. Their silver rings, bracelets, earrings, buttons, belts, dresspins and bridle ornaments are very well fashioned with a few rude tools.

The Navajo smith works on a flat stone under a tree, but the Pueblo artificer has generally a bench and a little forge in a room of his house.

Reasons why

Dr. Carey's Life Tone Tablets ARE THE MEDICINE YOU NEED

Because They feed the nerves with the proper kind of food. The nerve cells are the source of supply of nerve force, they give power to the entire nerve system. If we do not feed them well they become exhausted and we suffer from lost vitality.

Because They are a scientific combination of roots and herbs especially prepared to restore to the person "who has grown old," through excess, dissipation, social duties or business cares a perfect condition of health and power of endurance.

Because They are not a patent medicine but a prescription that has been used in the private practice of a well known specialist in combating the ills of lost vitality, weakness, impotency, insomnia and brain fog covering a period of over forty years.

Because DR. CAREY'S LIFE TONE TABLETS are a healthy, natural food for the nerves and are not a temporary stimulant like the most of advertised remedies, they give quick, positive and permanent results.

BECAUSE

Dr. Carey's Life Tone Tablets are a purely herbal preparation and contain no morphine, opiate or harmful habit forming drugs. They are pure and healthful.

DR. CAREY'S LIFE TONE TABLETS as their name implies are the most wonderful system tonics known to medical science. The tonic effect is wonderful, they supply just the proper food to the blood, brain and nerves that is absolutely necessary to impart perfect health and strength.

A MAN OF MYSTERY.

Pequilar Life of Metastasio, the Celebrated Italian Poet.

Metastasio (1698-1782), the celebrated dramatic and operatic poet, spent fifty-five years in Vienna with the Martines family without ever learning German or wishing to learn it.

Besides his utter indifference to all speech but Italian, Metastasio possessed many peculiarities of character. None might mention death in his presence. Those who alluded to smallpox before him he made it a point not to see again. In all his fifty-five years in Vienna he never gave away more than the equivalent of $25 to the poor. He always occupied the same seat at church, but never paid for it. He took all his meals in the most mysterious privacy. His greatest friends had never seen him eat anything but a biscuit with some lemonade. Nothing would induce him to dine away from home. He never changed his wig or the cut or color of his coat.

Metastasio was to have been presented to the pope the day he died and raved about the intended interview in the delirium of his last moments. Mrs. Piozzi (familiar to readers of Boswell's "Life of Dr. Johnson" as Mrs. Thrale) collected these particulars from the ladies of the Martines family, with whom Metastasio was so long domesticated without speaking or understanding a word of their language from first to last.

Pomona Grange Meeting

Bedford County Pomona Grange No. 24 met in the I. O. O. F. Hall at Bedford Thursday, March 2, worthy Master Charles W. Koontz in the chair.

Address of welcome was delivered by D. T. Lutz and the response by Emmet E. Brown, Master-elect. Installation of officers was in charge of J. H. Moses, with W. F. Biddle assistant. After general routine work, George W. Oster, Insurance Director of the Bedford County Grange Mutual Fire Insurance Company, made his quarterly report. The reports of subordinate Granges generally were encouraging.

The motion that the June meeting of Pomona be held with Ray's Cove Grange was carried. A recitation by Sister Alice Koontz, "Gov. Winthrop's Wood Pile," was well rendered. "How can we make our homes more attractive" was thoroughly discussed by George Z. Replogle, Shannon Troutman, W. F. Biddle and A. C. Richards. "In what way will a Parcels Post law benefit the rural communities," by Hon. George W. Oster. An address by A. C. Richards, President of the Bedford County Fruit Growers' Association, was well received. The report of the Finance Committee showed a nice balance in the treasury. The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we, the members of Bedford County Pomona Grange tender our thanks to Bedford Lodge No. 202, I. O. O. F., for the free use of their hall for our meeting.

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so? The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Scott, J., Feb. 15, 1904.—The only allegations of this remonstrance which can be accepted as proven against the petitioners are prohibited sales made to five minors. These are admitted by him. Prior to the Act of May 25, 1897, P. L. 93, this would require forfeiture of his license, for the provisions of the earlier statute were mandatory and absolute: Carlson's License, 127 Pa. 330; Campbell's License, 8 Pa. Superior Ct. 524. The later act, however, excuses from responsibility when such sales are not made 'knowingly or negligently.' All these minors were examined in court. Some of them were nearly of age when they misrepresented it at the bar of the hotel. Their appearance in each case justified reliance upon their assertion, which they maintained by written acknowledgment in a book. One of them drank with his own father. Most of the sales were made by the bartender, to whom specific instructions to observe the law had been given by the applicant: Com. vs. Newhard, 3 Pa. Superior Ct. 215. The test of either civil or criminal responsibility for negligence in any branch of the law is not measured by failure to employ all or even the best resources to ascertain the facts, when not immediately available upon sudden exigency. Inquiry made in good faith from one whose appearance confirms the answer is proof of that degree of care which rebuts, prima facie, the inference that an act is done with knowledge or negligence, and a reasonably prudent man would deem it sufficient, unless there was something else to create suspicion. Any other interpretation would require a large proportion of bar patrons who had reached their majority to exhibit a certificate or register of birth. This does not imply that apparent doubt requires no further proof than the declaration of the minor.

I have administered these laws rigidly (Com. vs. Holstine, 122 Pa. 357), and I intend to do so, in the interest of good order; but I am morally certain that very few hotel proprietors in the county could safely challenge such an investigation as this has been, with the efforts of the two chief restraints, inspired by personal resentment, to secure proofs of violations of law for the period of two years. This is a respectable house and invites a reputable patronage. Revocation of the license upon the evidence submitted would be opposed to a condition which the legislature, whether wisely or not, has seen fit to exempt. The petition of Oscar G. Tallman for the same place must be denied. He is not in possession of the premises. If the owner recovers it, the license will be transferred."

The petition of John C. Miller for a license at the Union Hotel in Bedford Borough comes to us as a surprise. The evidence shows that the former proprietor, Ed. Dill, circulated a petition and obtained signers, when within two days of the time for filing his petition the said John C. Miller obtained signatures to an application for license at the said hotel and his petition was filed and that of Ed. Dill was not filed. The petitioner testified that if a license was granted he was to hold the property under a lease, otherwise the lease was not to go into effect unless a license was granted. A large remonstrance has been filed against the granting of this license. After due and careful consideration of the petitioners for and remonstrants against this license together with the testimony, it is refused by a majority of the Court. We now come to consider the applications of J. Edward Evans, Thomas Eichelberger, Walter B. McCleary, John T. McElwain and Charles Yont. Against each applicant there are specific charges of the violation of the Act. These several persons held a license granted for the year 1910 and at the time the Court granted the licenses we emphatically told the licensees, that we had been informed, in an indirect way, that some people charged them with selling to minors and men of known intemperate habits, but there being no direct evidence in support of such charges we could not consider them and the licenses were granted, but we cautioned and admonished them to comply with the law and not to sell to any forbidden class. When the licensees were applied for this year we were brought face to face with testimony against each applicant which to our mind showed such disregard to the law, which to say the least was surprising; boys of the age of seventeen years and upward testified that they purchased and drank at a number of these places frequently and without being asked their age, and men of known intemperate habits, and those visibly under the influence of liquor, testified they purchased liquor at some of these places. We are satisfied that this condition so aroused the people of the several communities in which the license was held, that they were forced to remonstrate and brought before the Court such opposition both in the nature of remonstrances and evidence which clearly indicate the sentiment of the people as to this question and by reason of these violations, applicants are not entitled to and should not be given a license, and it having been shown to our satisfaction both by the remonstrance and testimony that these several applicants have violated the Act of Assembly, it is our duty to refuse the licenses. "On a proceeding to revoke a license to sell liquors under Sect. 7 Act of May 13, 1887, P. L. 110, on the ground that the licensee sold liquors to minors, it is no sufficient excuse or justification that he sold them in good faith, informed and believing that they were of full age." Carlson's License 127 Pa. 330 and Justice Paxson delivering his opinion in this case said, "This provision is mandatory," and again, "This ignorance is not a sufficient excuse or justification under the Act of Assembly." In Arnold's License 30 Super. Court 96 the law is laid down as follows: "It is mandatory upon the Court to revoke a license upon sufficient cause shown, or proof being made to the said Court, that the party holding a license has violated any law of this commonwealth relating to the sale of liquors." Again: "Under the Act of May 13, 1887, Sections 7 and 17 P. L. 108 the fact that the holder of a retail license has sold liquor to persons of 'known intemperate habits' at his place of business is sufficient reason for refusing to renew the license, and of the fact that a prospective customer belongs to such a class, the holder of the license is bound to take notice. The fact that the customer could not properly be described as a 'soak' or 'common drunkard' does not show that he does not belong to the class of persons described as of 'known intemperate habits,' and such evidence is, therefore, of little weight."

Shettler's License 13 District Report 631. At the argument, the counsel for these several applicants, laid great stress upon the opinion of Judge Agnew, who was referred to frequently as a "temperance Judge." Judge Agnew determined the cases which were before him, in the light of the law as it then stood. The people realizing and knowing the harmful effects of the use of liquors, succeeded in having the Legislature pass the Act of Assembly of May 13, 1887, and known as the Brooks High License Law, which changed the law as construed by Judge Agnew in Schlaudecker vs. Marshall 72 Pa. 200 so as to separate and divorce the license from the hotel and throwing the burden of the necessity of the license and not the necessity of the hotel on the people of the district and making it incumbent on the residents of the Borough, Ward or Township to inform the Court that a license was not necessary. "The fact that the place is necessary either as a hotel or as an eating house for the public accommodation does not necessarily and under all circumstances compel the conclusion that a license to the applicant to sell intoxicating liquors by retail at such place is necessary. In other words not every place that may be necessary as a hotel or as an eating house for public accommodation is entitled as a matter of right to be licensed to sell liquor if the other statutory requirements are complied with."

Remor Hotel Co., License 24 Super. 525. The Act of Assembly confines the petitioners and remonstrants to the district. Sect. 7. "The said Court of Quarter Sessions shall hear petitions from residents of the ward, borough or townships, in addition to that of the applicant, in favor of and remonstrance against the application for such license, and in all cases shall refuse the same whenever, in the opinion of the said Court having due regard to the number and character of the petitioners for and against such applications such license (not hotel but such license) is not necessary," and so forth. The Third Section vests the Court with a discretionary power in the granting or refusing the license upon cause shown, viz: "Such Licenses may be granted," etc., all the other provisions are mandatory and the Seventh Section reads, "The said Court of Quarter Sessions shall hear petitions from residents of the ward, borough or township, in addition to that of the applicant in favor of and remonstrance against the application for such license, and in all cases shall refuse the same, etc." And the last clause of the section reads, "And upon sufficient cause being shown or proof being made to the said Court that the party holding a license has violated any law of this commonwealth relating to the sale of liquors, the Court of Quarter Sessions shall, upon notice being given to the person so licensed, revoke the said license." From these words we see that discretionary power, to grant, is lodged in the Court but it makes it mandatory to refuse and revoke upon cause being shown. This Act places it on the parties directly interested to satisfy the Court of the necessity, and not on the traveling public, and we can very readily see the reason; because the locality is interested in the sale of intoxicating liquors and know the harmful effect of promiscuous sales in each locality. It is to the local people, the petitioners for and the remonstrants against, that the Court must look for information. There is no co-ordinate branch of our government which comes so close to the people as the district court and it is for these courts to administer the laws affecting the people in the localities, over which they preside, in such a way as to bring about the best results for the people generally, guided by certain rules and regulations as we find them in the law regulating the conduct and actions of the people and as laid down by the Appellate Courts. We dare not stifle the will of the people, when we know what it is, just because we are in a position to do so. As Dean Kirchway, of Columbia Law School in his address before the American Bar Association in speaking of the Courts said, "They will receive and they will deserve respect so long as the law which they lay down is the expression of the public will and no longer." If these applicants are deprived of their license it is their own fault, they have failed in their duty to comply with the law notwithstanding the admonition given, and the people have spoken through the medium of remonstrance and testimony which the Court must hear and respect. These several applications for license are refused after a full hearing and careful consideration, by a majority of the Court.

J. M. WOODS, P. J.

Judge Brice's Position

Bedford, Pa., March 13, 1911.

Hon. J. M. Woods,

a resident Judge.

Dear Sir:—

In regard to the Bedford County Licenses I wish to say in answer to your request that the Associate Judges shall write out and send you their opinions that my position at present is in favor of granting all the applications. This is subject to any change or modification of my position and vote as one of the Court, upon hearing or learning your views as President Judge on the several applications and especially so in the cases where testimony was heard by the Court and as I may feel it my duty to alter my vote after ascertaining your opinion on any questions of law involved.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM BRICE, SR.,

A. J.

In accordance with the reservations contained in my letter of March 13, 1911, to Hon. J. M. Woods, President Judge, I hereby elect to change and modify my vote as a member of said Court in said letter contained, so as to read as follows: I am opposed to the granting of a License to The Bedford Springs Hotel for the same reason that the licensees were refused to all others to which Licenses were granted last year. The President Judge, having filed his opinion in the above stated matter, and the subscriber hereto being fully satisfied that he is justified in dissenting and objecting to the granting of a License to The Bedford Springs Hotel in the light of the opinion of the President Judge as filed. My vote is therefore against the granting of a license to the Bedford Springs Hotel.

WILLIAM BRICE, SR.,

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

"Abe" Lincoln's Pledge in Sunday Schools

"Now, sonny, keep that pledge and it will be the best act of your life."
So spoke a man called "Abe" Lincoln to a boy named Cleopas Breckenridge in Illinois in 1846. Other old people besides Breckenridge still live in Illinois who testify to these facts: That Lincoln came on horseback to the South Fork school house in Sagamore County, made a temperance speech, took a paper from his pocket and invited everybody to sign a total abstinence pledge. Moses Martin, now of Edinburg, Ill., committed Lincoln's pledge to memory. Howard H. Russell of Westerville, O., the founder of the Anti-Saloon League, discovered these facts, and so he has started also the Lincoln Legion.

The Lincoln Legion is a Sunday School movement. It invites the members of the school to enroll with Lincoln as pledged abstainers. But it does not stop there. Russell's idea is that, backed by the Sunday Schools, the Lincoln Legion will go to the factories, the shops and the foundries, to the street corners and the crossroads, into tents and tabernacles, and into "the highways and hedges" to persuade everybody for good and sufficient reasons to quit drinking intoxicating liquor.

The movement began a while ago at Oberlin, O. The national headquarters is at Westerville, O. On Lincoln's birthday, Sunday, February 12, 1911, many Sunday schools throughout the whole country held a Lincoln service and began a nation-wide Lincoln Legion movement. Upon that day more than 200,000 pledges were signed. This Lincoln service will be held in the Sunday School of the Methodist Episcopal Church here at 2 o'clock p. m., March 19. The scholars will take part in special recitations and songs. Stirring words by Lincoln and about Lincoln will be spoken, and the pledge written, signed, advocated and kept to the day of his death by Lincoln will be signed by all who desire to do so. An interesting feature of the service will be the unveiling of a beautiful colored picture by the great artist, Arthur I. Keller, entitled "Lincoln Pledging Cleopas Breckenridge." A letter from President Taft advising total abstinence will be read. Relatives and friends of the Sunday School scholars are invited to be present and take part in the service. S. W. Salkeld.

HECKERMAN LETTER

On the Chickamauga Battle Field a Grandeur Park.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 8.
This is the second city of this state, numerically speaking, Memphis being the largest and by far the more prosperous. It has many more advantages than Chattanooga in many ways. This said that what Waterloo was to Europe, Chattanooga is to America. More and more as the years roll by, this beautiful and charming section of the South, with its history of the most important events of the Civil War, becomes the centre of talk prom all, especially those who come here to view the hundreds of monuments that have been erected on this historic ground in memory of their military ancestors.

Chattanooga is a stop-over point for tourists from all points of the compass and one which should not be passed without visiting its many points of interest. Most all the great trunk lines of tourist travel meet here, then divide; some climbing the great Cumberland Mountains toward McMinnville, Tenn., from which place I wrote you last. The environments of Chattanooga comprise the most beautiful scenery. A Prussian Prince, standing on Point Lookout exclaimed: "This is grand; there is nothing in all Europe that is finer." Many historic places of interest are here to be seen by the pleasure seeker and many short trips can be taken by trolley or other easy methods to the famous Missionary Ridge, Lookout Mountain, Orchard Knob, Walden's Ridge or Chickamauga National Military Cemetery. An automobile ride or one hundred and twenty miles on well-kept, first-class Government pikes and along Missionary Ridge is a treat so full of inspiration and heart interest as will never be forgotten. Uncle Sam, by an Act of Congress, has purchased the entire Chickamauga battlefield, covering some fifteen square miles, and has converted it into a magnificent park, and has appropriated seven hundred thousand dollars for the erection of monuments and for the improvement of the grounds, walks and driveways. The various states have appropriated large sums for the erection of monuments to commemorate the deeds of valor of their soldiers. Many of these monuments are bronze, yet now and then one sees a granite or marble one. The main drive of the park is thirty miles long and twenty-four feet wide.

The National Commission after much research and trouble has ascertained the fighting lines of all divisions and brigades on both the Union and Confederate sides with sufficient accuracy to justify the erection of historical tablets for those organizations. The part taken by each organization throughout the battles is set forth on these tablets. Many of the old lines of works and fortifications have been rebuilt and otherwise restored to their looks of long years ago. This park is now the greatest military park in the world.

Chattanooga has some sky scraper buildings and many very large jobbing houses for most all the products. There is much more hog and hominy raising here now than ever before. This is true of all the South and the man of small capital can buy forty or fifty acres of land, say for six hundred dollars, then buy fifteen good stock hogs for say a couple hundred more and I'll promise that with this small initial investment and a small outlay for equipment he can easily produce twenty thousand pounds of pork each year. The climate is so mild that they need no close pens, only an inexpensive shed to lie under. Then with the growing season so long and a winter so warm that green pasture and roots are abundant for the hog the year round, this shows the possibilities of cheap hog production in the South, and there is no finer flavored pork than that fed on sorghum and p-nuts. My idea is that there are wonderful chances for investment here in the South.

I met Joe Lessig on the street the other day. He looks well and says he is very well. I did not see any other members of his family. I spent every moment that I could spare playing with baby Ann Heckerman. She is the most original youngster that I ever saw; for instance, she took her banjo to the cellar where the young chickens are kept and began to play it, the little chicks came up to her and stood around her looking up into her eyes, being perfectly charmed with the music. She said she wanted to say her prayers to grandpa, and to have a sweet youngster two and a half years old kneel at my feet, fold her little hands and say her little prayers, brought tears to Dad's eyes, for it has been many a day since he has experienced such a feeling as then passed through his frame. Then before going to bed she had to do her little stunts for me, and kiss me good-night. She is a lovely child.

Glad the paving is to be done. Mr. Fred Metzger now plays the city fathers to pave the street where he lives, Selah.

Lovely weather this way

Yours truly,

M. P. Heckerman.

ETIQUETTE IN SIAM.

On Hands and Knees Before the King Was Long the Custom There.

Perhaps the most revolutionary reform carried out by the late king of Siam was the abolition of the arbitrary rule of etiquette which forbade an inferior in rank to raise his head above that of a superior or even level with it. The inferior must not even pass over a bridge while a superior was underneath it, nor must he enter a room in an upper story while a superior was occupying a room beneath it. Servants approached their masters on hands and knees. This custom is by no means obsolete today in spite of the royal edict, for many of the powerful nobles who live far away from the court still enforce it.

In 1874 the king held a large court, at which no one present presumed to appear otherwise than on hands and knees. It was at this audience that the edict forbidding the custom was read to the prostrate multitude. They there and then rose and stood like men in the presence of their sovereign for the first time on record. Since then there has been no prostration at the royal audiences. But if a superior stops to speak to an inferior in the street the latter will still bend or lower his head in some way as a mark of respect.—London Saturday Review.

Spoiled in the Making.
Behold, when a man on a trolley car removed his hat the other day little Willie observed that he was bald—yes, very bald, for not a single hairs curler trailed over his shining pate. But when it came to whiskers the bald party was right there with the lilacs. He had whiskers in bundles, whiskers in stacks. In fact, he had enough whiskers to start a rat factory and make a fortune.

"Say, mamma," finally remarked Willie, turning to his mother, "just look at that man there."

"Hush, dear!" returned mamma. "He will hear you. What's the matter with him?"

"Everything is the matter with him," replied the youngster. "When the angels made him they put his head on upside down."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

His Blunt Critic.
Irving Bacheller was introduced one day by a mutual friend to a western mountaineer.

"Mr. Bacheller," exclaimed the friend to the mountaineer, "is an author of repute in the east."

"Oh, yes," drawled the mountaineer "I know of him. I was locked up in my cabin here by the snow two winters ago, and I only had two books to read the whole five months, your book, sir," he said, turning to Mr. Bacheller, "and the Bible, and I read them through several times."

"Indeed!" said the author, a smile of satisfaction wreathing his face.

"Yes, sir," continued the old mountaineer, "and I never knew before how interesting the Bible was."—St. Paul Dispatch.

THE CLANRICARDE PLAQUE.

A Famous Specimen of the Sixteenth Century Goldsmith's Art.

One of the greatest cinquecento jewels in the world is the Clanricarde plaque, owned by Lord Clanricarde, who is known as the "hermit peer" and who claims direct descent from the kings of Connaught. He guards with jealous care this precious example of the goldsmith's art, keeping it safe from possible thieves and the common gaze in a bank vault, to which he goes occasionally with great secrecy to feast his eyes upon its magnificence. Some years ago, by royal request, he lent it to an art exhibition in London, where it was admired and coveted by some of the greatest connoisseurs of Europe.

The huge disk is as delicately wrought as a spider's web and represents the figure of Hercules wielding a diamond sword. The sword blade is composed of a mass of perfectly matched steel white stones, and a superb blue diamond scintillates from the hilt. The present owner inherited it from his mother, who was a Miss Canning before her marriage to the Irish lord, and the plaque is practically priceless. Aside from its value to collectors and its worth as a specimen of rare and exquisite art, it is incrustated with a fortune in jewels.—New York Press.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XII.—First Quarter, For March 19, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 1 Kings xx, 12-21. Memory Verse, 13—Golden Text, Prov. xxxi, 4—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

When godly people seek the help of and rely on the ungodly it is not only a testimony against God on the part of those who bear His name, but it encourages the ungodly in their ungodliness. In II Chron. xvi we read that Asa, king of Judah, was rebuked by the Lord through Hanani the seer because he relied upon Benhadad, king of Syria.

It may have been that this fellowship of Asa with him afterward encouraged Benhadad to ill treat Ahab, king of Israel, as he did, first demanding of him his silver and his gold and his wives and children and then threatening to send his servants to search the houses of the king and his servants and take away all their desirable things (verses 5, 6). Ahab seems to have borne the first demand with wondrous submission, but the second was too much, and Ahab by the advice of his elders so returned answer to Benhadad. This drew from him a great threat, to which Ahab replied in these words: "Let not him that girdeth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off" (verse 11).

We cannot but be impressed with the pains which God takes to win people to Him and to deliver them from the wrath to come, and we are amazed to see Him working even on behalf of such a one as Ahab. But it was all for His great namesake that Ahab might know Him as Jehovah (verses 13, 28). Compare Job xxxiii, 27-30, and remember always II Pet. iii, 9. What He has done for Israel in the past and will yet do for them in the future was and will be wholly for His name's sake that He may be known and trusted (Ezek. xxxvi, 22; xxxvii, 28; xxxviii, 23; xxxix, 27-29). Even to this day He is wont to show Himself strong on behalf of very unworthy representatives if only He may be known through them as the living and true God, who loves to save and is not willing that any should perish.

The great hindrance to His saving and blessing people and showing Himself strong on their behalf is their unwillingness and unbelief. How often He has had to say: "And ye would not" (Isa. xxviii, 12; xxx, 15; Matt. xxiii, 37; John v, 40). "My people would not bearken to My voice, and Israel would none of Me." "They believed not in God and trusted not in His salvation" (Ps. xxxi, 11; lxxviii, 22).

Ahab's record is, "There was none like unto Ahab, who did sell himself to work wickedness in the sight of the Lord" (chapters xxi, xxv). The only good thing written of him is his penitence, which caused the Lord to delay judgment on him (xxi, 27-29). And yet in this lesson the Lord gave the Syrians into his hand twice, though his people were but few and the Syrians a great host. He even caused a wall to fall upon 27,000 of the Syrians. Such a manifestation of the power of God on behalf of such as Ahab is most unusual. We must think not of Ahab, but of Israel as the people of God, though in rebellion against Him, concerning whom He said: "How shall I give thee up, Ephraim? How shall I deliver thee, Israel?" (Hos. xi, 8). "O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself, but in me is thine help" "O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God" (Hos. xiii, 9; xiv, 1).

As to the Syrians, who were at this time overthrown, it is plain that drunkenness was one of the sins of their leaders, for Benhadad and his thirty-two royal comrades were drinking themselves drunken (verses xii, 16) even while they were boasting against the God of Israel. It was not sinful Israel that they were talking against, but the wonder working God of Israel, who counts all that is done to His people, however unworthy they may be, as done to Himself (Zech. ii, 8). After the first defeat of the Syrians they said that the God of Israel, was a God of the hills, but not of the valleys, and for this they suffered their second defeat, though the children of Israel were like two little flocks of kids, while the Syrians filled the country (verses 23, 27). The Lord loves to show Himself strong on behalf of all who trust in Him (II Chron. xvi, 9).

But proud, haughty, self sufficient people will always be overthrown. There is nothing that develops the self in man like wine or strong drink and self or the carnal mind is that part of us that is incorrigibly bad and never be improved (Rom. viii, 7). As to the way in which wine or strong drink works—and some instances of it in the Scriptures—the cases of Noah, David and Uriah, Nabab, Elah and others might be studied with profit (Gen. ix, 20, 21; I Sam. xi, 13; I Sam. xxv, 26; I Kings xvi, 9). The record stands that drinkards shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

And even such guilty ones have been and may still be saved. Then there is that staggering and drunkenness of unbelief always to be considered in which neither wine nor strong drink is at all in evidence (Isa. xxix, 9-13). Sinners of all grades and kinds are all about us, whom God is ready to save, and we do well to consider whether while we are busy here and there they get beyond our reach (verse 40).

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

PASTOR RUSSELL'S WEEKLY SERMON

Not long ago I pointed out that the last twelve verses of St. Mark's Gospel in our Common Version are spurious—so recognized by all scholars, because these verses are not to be found in any of the oldest Greek MSS. and were evidently added to the Word of God in the seventh century or later. Moreover, we gave proofs of the untruthfulness of this addition. Is it true that whoever believes the Gospel of Christ may handle serpents with impunity and may drink deadly poison without harm? Surely not. It is nothing short of a sin for those who know better to acknowledge these verses and to use them to bolster up theories of Divine Healing. It is as much a crime to add to the Word of God as to take away from it.

Today I invite attention to some other dead flies, some other additions to God's Word, which have had much to do with twisting the theology once delivered to the saints. Take, for instance, the closing words of the Lord's Prayer:

"Thine is the Kingdom and Power and Glory"

These words, if uttered by our Lord, should be found in the old Greek MSS. But they are not found therein. They are, therefore, to be rejected as additions made by people centuries after Matthew's Gospel was written. These words were introduced when the faith of the Church respecting the Kingdom of Messiah was changed or changing from what it was originally. All through the New Testament the Second Coming of Christ in power and glory to establish His Kingdom and to glorify the Church, His Bride, is set for the end of this Gospel Age. But as the time grew long a change of sentiment came into the Church. It became popular and rich. Its bishops were respected. Finally the theory prevailed that God did not intend to delay the establishment of the Kingdom until the Second Coming of Christ, but did intend to establish it in the hands of the Church during this Age and to use the Church for the conquering of the world and the fulfilling of all the promises of the past.

In line with this the most prominent bishop of the time was recognized as Divinely appointed to represent Christ in the world and to reign over the nations in His stead and to bring about the Millennium, etc. This was the Bishop of Rome, who subsequently was styled the Pope and who claimed and was accorded the honorable title, "Vice-genet of the Son of God." It is said that the equivalent of this title to this day is worn by the Pope on his tiara or three-crowned hat—Vicarius Dei Filii.

Thus the change came in the general sentiment of the "Christian world." Messiah's Kingdom was no longer to be looked for as coming, but was to be recognized as here. The Pope, as Messiah's reigning representative, was to be acknowledged. All Kingdoms that were to honor and obey Messiah were commanded to honor and obey the Pope. The various prophecies which tell of Messiah's Kingdom glory were applied to the Pope, and are still so applied.

As Messiah was to ride forth conquering the world and "wound the heads over many peoples," so the Popes in succession sought to do, to fulfill these prophecies. As the inauguration of Messiah's Kingdom is promised to be in the midst of a time of great trouble, it was not thought improper that Papacy should cause great trouble in the world in its endeavor to establish itself as the Kingdom of Messiah. As whosoever would not receive Messiah was to be "destroyed from amongst the people," it was not considered wrong to destroy those who rejected and opposed the Papal Kingdom and to give them to the burning flame.

"Thy Kingdom Come on Earth."

The Lord's prayer was already in the Scriptures, and was known to many. It could not be eliminated. But some zealous person, fully believing that God's Kingdom had come, felt justified in amending the prayer to correspond to what he supposed were the facts. Hence the prayer which begins, "Thy Kingdom come," is made to end by saying, "Thy Kingdom has come in its glory and power."

If Papacy is the Kingdom of Messiah, it is certainly not what the Jews expected. It is certainly not what we expected. It is certainly not what the masses of mankind had any reason to expect, although it is so accepted by the majority of Christendom.

Although our protesting forefathers broke away from the Pope and denounced him as Anti-Christ and declared that he falsely sat in the place of Christ without authority, they, nevertheless, were imbued with the same error. They did not think to go back to the message of the Scriptures and to look for the Son of God to set up His Kingdom at His Second Advent and then to bless Israel and the world through His glorified Church. Instead they held to the Papal theory that God's Kingdom was set up and was conquering the world, and that thus the Messianic reign mentioned in the prophecy is being fulfilled. They hold that Christ himself is the invisible King but that the Pope is not authorized to represent him. Hence this spurious addition to the Word of God is as acceptable to Protestants as to Catholics; indeed more so, if we may judge by the fact that the Catholic Bible omits the spurious words, while the protestant Bible quotes them.

We here remark that according to Protestant theory Messiah's Kingdom is represented in the civilized nations of the world, especially of Europe. These all claim to reign "by the grace of God," in which case, of course, wars and battles between them are conflicts between the various parts of Messiah's Kingdom. And present military preparations on land and sea portend a most sanguinary conflict between these "Kingdoms of this world," which think themselves and are called by Christendom "kingdoms of God."

How glad we are to see the Truth on this subject; that the Kingdom of God's dear Son has not yet been set up, in any sense of the word—that it is still future. It cannot be set up until this Gospel Age ends and the "elect" saintly few of every nation—Jew and Gentile—shall be changed from earthly to heavenly nature by the First Resurrection, which will qualify them to be "kings and priests unto God and unto Christ and to reign with Him a thousand years" (Revelation xx, 6).

It is well that all Bible students should mark this "fly" and extract it from Precious Ointment, and notice how much sweeter and fresher the Lord's prayer is to them forever.

"Oh, What a Whopper!"

Thomas Paine was an enemy to the Bible and to the Christian religion, but largely so, we believe, on account of his poor understanding of it. And his misunderstanding of the Bible was largely due to the false doctrines handed down from the "Dark Ages" purporting to be biblical. Who cannot sympathize with the great infidel, Thomas Paine, who, when reading the last verse of St. John's Gospel, exclaimed, "O, what a whopper!" It reads, "And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which, if they should be written every one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written" (John xxi, 25).

Surely any one of reasoning mind should see the absurdity of such a statement. Surely all Christian ministers should have informed the Lord's sheep under their care respecting what is and what is not the Word of God, the Bible, as it was recognized by the Apostolic Church and written down in the original manuscripts. Why any Christian

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

minister should assail me because I endeavor to do for the people what he has neglected to do I cannot understand. I must leave it to the Lord to judge between us. I am informed that hundreds of ministers went to the editors of the papers which publish my sermons weekly and endeavored to have them discontinue their publication.

But the editors perceive that their readers are no longer under the bondage of the "Dark Ages," but have begun to think for themselves, and that many of them are hungering and thirsting for the Truth respecting the Bible—the Christian's Spiritual food and drink. To the claim that many read my sermons instead of going to Church the answer is, that Pastor Russell is preaching to the non-church-going ten millions who are in the majority and that it behooves the ministers to provide for their people the spiritual food for which they are famishing, if they would not lose them all.

Another Big Fly

To the credit of such men as Luther, Calvin, Knox, Zwingle, Wesley and others living prior to our day we must explain that they had no opportunity for knowing of the spurious passages of the Scriptures. They, therefore, have no responsibility such as devolves upon ministers of our day who do, or should, know all about these matters. We cannot on this occasion make further investigation, take out more of these dead flies; but, the Lord willing, at some future time I John v, 7, 8 will have our attention. It is worthy of it. It has caused the Ointment to stink and has confused the minds of many of God's dear saints by the way in which the error in this case has been interwoven with the Truth.

My hearers should bear distinctly in mind that what I am here presenting is not at all in line with the presentations of the Higher Critics. Their method is to read through the Scriptures and judge of them by their own keen intellectual powers, and thus to discriminate between which were written by the Prophets credited, and which were additions. Their Higher Criticism claims a keener scent or mental discernment than ordinary mortals enjoy, by which they know these things whether others can see it so or not.

I resent Higher Criticism and accept the Word of God in full. I reject nothing because of my own or other men's surmises, but merely go by the facts. If the oldest Greek MSS. do not contain certain passages of Scripture, how could they get into later MSS. except as spurious additions?

Nor should I be considered as fault-finding with our Common Version of the Bible. While it is not without its faults, it has so many excellent qualities and beautiful translations that I prefer it to any other and generally use it. But I must not, I cannot, approve those portions of it which all orthodox scholars admit to be spurious.

ITCHING SCALP

Get Rid of it in a Few Hours. There is nothing made that will so quickly rid the scalp of distressing itchiness as PARISIAN SAGE, the hair dressing and beautifier.

F. W. Jordan guarantees Parisian Sage to cure dandruff; stop itching scalp and falling hair, or money back, and it sells for only 50 cents a large bottle. It puts vitality into the hair and gives it a radiant luster. It is the favorite hair dressing of refined women because it so quickly refreshes the scalp and not being sticky or greasy is delightful to use. "I haven't been bothered with dandruff and itching scalp since I began using Parisian Sage."—Lena McGough, Wichita, Kans., June 8, 1910.

ous. We must not handle the Word of God deceitfully. If we do we must expect darkness instead of light, confusion instead of harmony.

Our Bible's Ter-Centenary

Just three centuries ago our English Common Version Bible was published. This year its Ter-Centenary is celebrated. It is a grand book. It has done a grand work. The fact that it is not perfect must not condemn a work possessed of so many glorious qualities. It was the result of seven years' labor on the part of forty-seven persons learned in the languages and appointed by King James of England for its preparation. They labored to some disadvantage by reason of the command given them to follow an earlier translation styled, The Bishop's Bible, and to alter it as little as the original would allow. They were also instructed that if the Tyndale, Coverdale, Matthew, Crammer or White-church translations and the Geneva Editors agreed better with the text, theirs should be accepted instead of the Bishop's. The translation was, perhaps, the best that could be made at the time.

Published by kingly authority, it is now venerated by English and American Protestants as though it had come direct from the finger of God. This is a mistake. We are to worship God and to reverence His Word and to search as carefully as possible to have the precious Ointment provided by the spirit of Truth free from all dead flies—free from all human additions and mistranslations and superstitions of the "Dark Ages."

The basis for our Common Version was the Latin Vulgate, which was diligently revised and compared with the Greek MSS. of the time. But there were few Greek MSS. known at that time, whereas at the present time there are over 700. Three of these are quite ancient.

(1) The Sinaitic MS., found in a Convent on Mt. Sinai so recently as 1860. This is acknowledged to be the oldest Greek MS. known in the world. Its date is estimated to be about the year 331 A. D. This MS. is now in the possession of the Russian Government at St. Petersburg.

(2) The Vatican MS., 1209, is credited with being next in age. It was found amongst old MSS. in the Vatican Library and is still there and catalogued. The date of its writing is estimated to be about the year 350 A. D.

(3) The third of these oldest known Greek MSS. of the New Testament is styled the Alexandrine, because it was found in Alexandria in Egypt. It is now in the British Museum, where any visitor can behold it in a glass case. It is supposed to have been written about A. D. 450. The readings of all three of these Greek MSS. can be secured and the variations between their readings and our Common Version are so simply arranged as to leave no excuse for ignorance on the part of Bible students. Our Common Version with notations of these MSS. can be obtained through any bookseller.

A Responsible and Sacred Trust

Prof. Tischendorf, writing respecting these ancient Greek MSS., says: "To treat such ancient authorities with neglect would be either unwarrantable arrogance or culpable negligence. Indeed, it would be a misunderstanding of Providence if, after all these documents had been preserved through all the dangers of fourteen or fifteen centuries and delivered safe into our hands, we were not ready to receive them with thankfulness as most valuable instruments for the elucidation of Truth."

The Truth in the Love of It

The Lord speaks of some who receive not the Truth in the love of it, and tells that they ultimately will be ensnared by the Adversary. Evidently heart-honesty is one of the most precious elements in the Divine sight. It is not sufficient that we should be Christians in name merely and with form and ceremony. It would not be sufficient in the Lord's sight that we should worship set or party or even the Bible. It is the Divine Truth that we must reverence next to the Divine person.

It is not sufficient to have Bibles on our center tables merely, not sufficient to carry them under our arms. We must "eat" the Word of God—that is to say, we must, as spiritual children of God, feed upon His message. And this truly implies careful discrimination to discern between God's inspired Revelation and all human additions and admixtures. There is, therefore, a difference between reverencing and loving the Word of God and reverencing and loving a particular translation, errors and all.

"Thy Word is Truth."

Our Master's prayer for all of His true disciples, or footstep followers, was and still is, "Sanctify them through Thy Truth; Thy Word is Truth." Whoever would have the sanctifying influence of the Divine Word should so far as possible rid himself of every unsanctifying admixture of human tradition and interpolation. The true sanctification or setting apart of the heart to know and to do the Lord's will could not be content to accept with the sanctifying Truth defiling errors, chaff and nonsense.

If thousands are turning away from the Bible there is a reason. It is not the pure Truth that drives them away, but the foreign admix-ture and the slanderous misinterpretations handed down to us by our well-meaning but deluded ancestors of several centuries ago. It is high time for all to manifest to God their love of the Truth by spending some of their time in studying it—in learning its precious lessons and in telling forth its "good tidings of great joy to all people."

Thomas L. Blackburn

Thomas L. Blackburn, aged 28 years, seven months and seven days, on Friday, March 10, 1911, receiving fatal injuries while working on a sawmill owned and operated one-half mile from the town of Rainsburg, by his father-in-law, Edward M. Smith. He died about six hours after the accident.

His former home was in Allegheny City. A younger brother and a half sister attended the funeral, which was held Sunday, March 12, at the M. P. Cemetery, adjacent to Rainsburg, Rev. J. C. Knable, pastor of Friend's Cove Reformed Church, officiating.

Mr. Blackburn was a member of the home company of National Guards, six of whom acted as pall bearers. Unfortunately for him he had no church connections, but all alike unite in pronouncing him a model young man in every respect. It is seldom that so vast a crowd of people gather to pay the last sad rights to their departed as gathered at the grave of this man. He is survived by his wife and two young children.

William Henry Yont

William Henry Yont, a prominent and highly respected citizen of Osterburg, passed away Sunday, March 12. The deceased was born August 20, 1842, and was aged 62 years, six months and 22 days. He is survived by his wife, whose maiden name was Mary Jane Hammers, a daughter, Minnie, married to F. L. Burtman of Lutzville; two sons, John H. of Pittsburgh and George W. at home.

Mr. Yont had been a great sufferer from paralysis for about five years, but bore his pains with fortitude, placing his trust in his Saviour. He was a faithful member of St. Peter's Lutheran Church and will be greatly missed in the church, home and community.

The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. H. C. Salem, and were largely attended.

Mardorf Bargis

Mardorf Bargis died of typhoid pneumonia at his home, southwest of town, on Saturday, March 11, aged 44 years. Several children survive.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Lingle on Monday, March 13. Interment was in the Bedford Cemetery.

Peter H. Sellers

Peter H. Sellers died at his home in Ursina, Friday, March 3, aged 67 years, two months and 29 days, having been born in Schellsburg in 1843. He is survived by his wife, one daughter and a sister, Mrs. Louise Rock of Schellsburg, also a brother, Frederick Sellers, of Mann's Choice.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Hiram King of Somerset, Rev. Dotter, D. D., of Rockwood and Rev. Moses Grossman, pastor of the Ursina Lutheran Church.

 THE HOUSE THAT SAVES YOU MONEY

SAN JOSE SCALE

Begin Spraying at once—don't lose a day. Your Fruit Trees, Vines and Shrubs of all kinds should be sprayed with Bowker's Lime-Sulphur every spring when the buds are swelling, but before they show green at the tips. Applications made later than this time may cause serious injury by burning the foliage. Therefore, order early and be prepared for the season.

Lime-Sulphur is not a poison, and kills only by coming directly in contact with the insect. It does not kill leaf-eating insects. Spray for these with Bowker's Pyrox. Lime-Sulphur has fungicidal properties, and is a specific in this respect for use on peaches, plums—in fact all stone fruits.

Spraying with Lime-Sulphur is cheap insurance against the scale, and is better than most insurance, because in every case when you spray, you reap a benefit, whether you have San Jose Scale present or not; that is, this spray kills other forms of scales and bark lice which are sure to be present, the leafblister mite, the eggs of many insects, and the fungus spores which are lodged on the bark, checks the growth of mosses and lichens, cleans up the trunk and large branches, and goes a long way toward getting the tree in good condition at the opening of the growing season. Give your trees a good start.

In Bowker's Lime-Sulphur we have the most concentrated, most reliable and the safest Lime-Sulphur for spraying fruit trees, shade trees, grape vines, currant bushes, shrubbery, etc. Its analysis and purity are guaranteed under the new United States Insecticide Law. It is a cherry-red liquid, clear and free from sediment and is made under the direct personal supervision of skilled graduate chemists.

Farm boiled Lime-Sulphur is always disagreeable and troublesome to make, variable in quality and not as easily applied as in the uniform product of a factory, where modern machinery, fitted with electrically driven agitators and every convenience for making a uniform, high-grade product on a large scale.

DIRECTIONS: Spring Spraying: Bowker's Lime-Sulphur needs only to be mixed with COLD water in the proportion of 1 gallon to 9 gallons of water (making 10 gallons of spray) and it is ready to use:

Price per gallon of Lime-Sulphur
 30c; per bbl. $10.00

If you have only a few trees in your lot, you can't afford to let them be killed by San Jose Scale, when the means at hand are so simple, and the cost so little that with a little effort you can easily save them.

We are also agents for Pratt's "Scalecide"—a Soluble Oil used to destroy San Jose Scale—and as effective as Lime-Sulphur Solution, and much easier to apply.

The cost of "Scalecide" is 60c a gallon, but 1 gallon of it makes 15 gallons of mixture with cold water. The cost of a gallon of "Scalecide" mixture is but a trifle more than the cost of a gallon of the Lime-Sulphur mixture.

Spraying should be done at once. We are agents for the above Spraying Solutions, in this part of the State, and have a good stock on hand.
